

Newsletter No. 2

(March 2020)

Editorial

In our first newsletter, the editorial was about the main endorsements of the PIONEERS Project. As explained there, from our point of view, the strength of PIONEERS is based in the methodology and the Consortium composition. Now it is time to talk about another of the engines that moves the Project: the Collaboration, as a best way to success.

As we understand, collaboration is the work done from different parts to achieve one common objective. Often these parts have different expertise and different view, even sometimes they have particular objectives. But the key is to have a common higher objective. PIONEERS Project has a very important objective: to save lives. The implementation of the PIONEERS' main results will help reduce PTW fatalities by up to 25% in 2025 and injuries by establishing test methods to develop protective systems and on-board systems to reduce impact severity.

This great objective must lead all the players involved to work together. Not only the Consortium members are players, also any entity or organisation related to the world of motorcycles or road safety is involved.

In the coming months the Project will need maximum support from as many players as possible to achieve success, we hope to achieve it!
